Although Mayor McCarthy had no formal statement to make concerning the result of the primary, he said this morning that he attributed his defeat to two chief causes—the placing of the national platform on the ticket and the activity of the liquor element of Richmond, which, according to his information, voted solidly against him. As a matter of fact, however, he did not concede the election of Judge Richardson until the very end.

Throughout the day there came from many quarters and mostly with regret and apprehension, expressions of a belief that the indications as a result of the returns, pointed unquestionably to a final opinion on the platform of prohibition or prohibition of liquor domination. The Rev. E. T. Damm, president of the Richmond Anti-Saloon League, said last night that his observations of the past few days and around the polls yesterday convinced him that the saloon was the enemy of the city and that the liquor element was merrily opposing the re-election of Mayor McCarthy, and that the published statements to that effect were absolutely true.

Further than this he would venture no opinion on a subject which had been generally discussed by those who were equally observant.

Defeat of Cary.

The most concrete evidence of the saloon power was shown in Henry Ward in the defeat of Councilman Hunsdon Cary. There were only six candidates for the lower branch, with five to be nominated. The reason for the fight on Mr. Cary was not at first understood, but Mr. Cary, who admits that the liquor people beat him, declared last night that it was due to the fact that he was counsel for citizens of Oregon Hill in the fight with the city to rid that section of the lower class bars.

He won the day, the bars were closed, and the whiskey faction paid the old score by defeating him in the primary.

In Addison Ward, the new member elected, E. R. Fuller, is secretary and treasurer of the Home Brewing Company, which fact was pointed to as an evidence that those identified with a business in which he was engaged had rallied to his support. Friends of Mr. Fuller explained, however, that he had made a most thorough canvass, having personally interviewed practically every voter in the ward. Councilman Gilbert K. Pollock had previously expressed feeling that his chances might be hurt by his refusal to vote for the Dabney ordinance, but he was sent back for another term by a very fair margin.

Effect of Plodde.

Captain McCarthy's most ardent supporters contended that a small vote would operate to his disadvantage, claiming that a combination of circumstances helped to throw him out of office. They declared that the national pledge would be a hindrance to his people from the polls, and that against this he had to overcome the liquor opposition, long ago estimated at 3,000 votes. In other words, they contended that he could not overcome the national liquor vote for Judge Richardson, which McCarthy people would not enter into the primary. Although it seemed to be conceded that Judge Richardson was the choice of the saloon, it was stated that the fact that this was not due to any affiliation or combination on his part, but simply because the saloon folk were determined to put forward every possible effort to defeat the mayor.

Although Sanger Hall has been the place for receiving the returns from Democratic primaries for many years, never was there a larger or more eager crowd in waiting. Chairman Dabney walked upon the stage at 9 o'clock and saw before him an audience which numbered 500 persons. On the outside were as many as were crowded within the walls of the building. The Richardson sentiment was apparent from the start, and somehow the impression that the former Commonwealth's Attorney would win seemed more or less general. Still, the Richardson people were quiet about it all, and so careful were they to see that their predictions were well founded, that they refrained from any demonstration for their candidate until something tangible had arrived upon which to base their conclusions. Every time a Richardson precinct came in, however, advocates of the judge showed lively interest, and fairly shouted themselves hoarse with applause.

Mayor Was There.

Mayor McCarthy arrived early and succeeded in reaching a seat behind the wing of the stage, unnoticed, where during the evening he kept a close count of the figures as they were read out from the various precincts. The crowd seemed to increase in size as the first returns approached, but perfect order prevailed, and every one appeared anxious to hear something official, even though it might not accord with the views of this or that individual.

The Third Henry was the first precinct to report, and there was some delay in reading it out. "Come on, audience," we want to know what it is," a few moments later Chairman Dabney started to reading, and that time on the greatest amount of interest was displayed from the floor. This precinct gave the Mayor fifteen and Judge Richardson twenty-seven, and there was applause, but when the Fourth Monroe was read out, giving Judge Richardson seventy-three and the Mayor only twenty, the followers of the former went absolutely wild. It seemed as though they could be quieted in order to allow them to be read out, but when this finally came it made the Richardson people more excited than ever before. They would no longer be controlled, and when it was announced that the net result was a victory for McCarthy, 159 for Richardson, there was an outbreak which in point of enthusiasm

Weak Heart

Upon the heart action depends not only health, but life. If weak, the circulation is sluggish, and the supply of nourishment diminished. It also fails to carry off impurities. Disease follows from decay and stagnation. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure stimulates the heart action by strengthening the heart nerves and muscles.

"I had frequent sinking spells, sometimes as many as three in a day, during which my heart would seem to stop and I would feel as if I were dying. A physician to resuscitate me. exceeded everything that had gone before. It is true that the small precincts, but the Richardson enthusiasts contended that their results indicated the drift, and that a great majority of the larger precincts would go the same way.

Great Applause.

When Mr. W. P. Leaman's precinct, Fourth Madison, came in, there was another Richardson outburst. The vote for Mayor was McCarthy 26; Richardson 55. This wave of enthusiasm had hardly subsided when it was announced that Third Jefferson had given Judge Richardson 29 and Mayor McCarthy only 53. The next was Third Marshall, 73 to 37 in favor of the former Commonwealth's attorney, and though six precincts had been opened, not a single one had gone for the Mayor.

Perhaps the greatest yell up to this hour occurred a few minutes later when Second Henry reported Richardson 151; McCarthy 125. Something of a lull followed this announcement, and the Richardson people figured up the totals and declared that it was impossible for their favorite to be defeated.

First Marshall, which is the famous Fulton precinct, reported at 10:30 o'clock. It was for Richardson, as had been all the rest which had come in up to this hour. Another strong lead was given to him when Third Monroe showed up with 121 for Judge Richardson and 59 for the Mayor.

Next came Fourth Jefferson with 152 for Richardson and 94 for the Mayor, and naturally the friends of the former took notice of the fact that at least up to this point the Richardson tide was still sweeping.

Captain McCarthy carried Second Madison by two majorities, and this victory was so slim that the Mayor's friends made little fuss over it.

Next came First Henry—McCarthy 115; Richardson 53, and still there was a storm of McCarthy applause, which lasted for some moments. This was renewed when Captain Thompson, who had now taken to reading the returns, announced First Monroe—McCarthy 141; Richardson 66. It was 11:15 P. M. when First Clay, one of Mayor McCarthy's real strongholds, reported. It went heavily for him, and

THIRTEEN NEW MEMBERS WIN IN LOWER BRANCH

Fight in Marshall Ends in Defeat of Grimes—Miner and Cary Knifed—Marks, Hobson and Richardson Elected to Board of Aldermen.

There were very few changes in the Board of Aldermen. Bennett, of Lee; Whitte, of Clay; Wood, of Jefferson; and Burton, of Henry, were elected without opposition. Graham B. Hobson ran in Henry as successor to Charles D. Larus and was elected. Aldermen Reynolds and Moncreux had opposition in Monroe, but they had easy sailing. In Marshall, where Alderman Mann retired, Councilman E. Douglas Richardson defeated E. C. Southern handily. Mr. Richardson is a son of the Mayor-elect. G. A. Marks won in Madison, defeating Dr. St. Julian, opponent of Dr. Marks, who succeeded Alderman Dabney, who will quit the Board.

John R. Grimes, about whose head a storm was raised in the Common Council a few months ago when he was elected to fill the vacancy over the protest of the ward delegation, was defeated yesterday. He ran sixth, James W. Gentry, the choice of the delegation, was among the winners, he and George W. Rogers, who led the ticket, taking the places now held by Mr. Grimes and Douglas Richardson. The delegation elected consisted of Garber, Richards, Powers, Rogers and Gentry.

Lee Ward returned its old delegation with the exception of Clyde H. Ratcliffe, who succeeds General Phillips, the latter declining re-election. The five Councilmen, who finished in the order named, are Watkins, Ferguson, Pollard, Ratcliffe and Cutcheon.

In the Jefferson Ward scramble for Common Council, honors two of the old members—H. O. Galt and W. T. Atkinson—were defeated. The new members elected being John A. Selph and John Hirschberg. Councilman Layton led the ticket, with Councilman Mills second. Councilman Williams, who was re-elected, ran third. Selph and Hirschberg making up the ticket.

There were six candidates in Henry, Councilman Cary being the man to lose. Councilman Graham B. Hobson retired to make the race for the Board. Councilman Dabney declined to run again, the new members elected being George E. Wise, A. S. Buford, J. and Kirkwood Mitchell. There was a hard fight on President Peters, but he won by a safe margin. Mr. Cary attributed his defeat to the liquor people, although he expressed the opinion that he could have overcome this had not the double pledge kept many of his friends from the polls.

Councilman E. W. Miner was the single member of the Clay Ward delegation to be beaten, John T. Powers, his friends did not overlook the result as it was announced—McCarthy, 246; Richardson, 151. The Richardson people, now openly declared that they would win their fight, but the McCarthy supporters, who were on the stage, asserted that they were not ready to surrender.

Indeed, they said that their favorite had a fine chance, and they seemed to keep their courage up as later returns were read out.

The predict of Mr. Clyde W. Saunders, Fourth Clay, gave Judge Richardson 166 and Mayor McCarthy 129, and the adherents of the judge started to cheering again, and asserted that they could "re-created now" except by a miracle.

Second Lee returns set the Richardson people to cheering again. When Captain Thompson read out, "McCarthy 76, Richardson 157," it looked as if the adherents of the latter would never stop yelling, as the West End had all along been looked upon as a McCarthy stronghold.

It was a little past midnight when First Jefferson reported. This completed the returns of the ward and precincts, but the Richardson enthusiasts showed a heavy majority for Judge Richardson, who carried all the four precincts by safe majorities. It was now 12:30 A. M. and there were only four precincts out. It was known that these would be divided between the two leaders, but it was pretty well understood that under anything less than extraordinary conditions, Judge Richardson would win, and his friends shouted their approval.

The End.

At 12:50 A. M. Second Clay reported a majority of 33 for Judge Richardson, and every one realized that it was all over but the shouting, and a good deal of the latter had already been indulged in. This left but two precincts to report. One was First Lee, and the other Second Marshall. It was known that the former would go heavily for the Mayor, and the latter for his now apparently successful competitor, but the crowd seemed content to await the receipt of the last official figures.

Second Marshall came at 1:15 A. M., and gave the Richardson people another excuse for shouting. It was the last precinct to report for Judge Richardson, but he had carried nearly all the previous ones, and his friends did not seem to care for the last, which was First Lee, and which, of course, went for the Mayor.

FOR ROLLER SKATE HIGHWAY

Would Have One From the Blue Atlantic to the Golden Gate.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—To transform the dignified thirty-fifth parallel of north latitude into a macadamized roller skate, pedestrian and automobile highway, to be dedicated by the United States government from the blue Atlantic to the Golden Gate, via New Bern, N. C., electric lighted, pointed and bordered with new idea garden cities, wherein no man or maid shall break the eight-hour law, is the object of a bill introduced by Representative Bourke Cockran, of New York, by request.

Old-timers held a mock inquest on the bill soon after its appearance and pronounced it the most remarkable legislative contrivance that ever found its way into the caucus of House of Representatives. Speculations as to its authorship were rife, but futile, for none but Mr. Cockran had the secret, and he kept it.

BOTH LIKE THE BILL

President and Secretary Cortelyou Approve Reel-and-Measure.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—Representative Vreeland, of New York, was in conference with the President tonight relative to the currency bill, which was drafted to meet the objections to the Aldrich bill, and which was introduced in the House on Monday.

After seeing the President, Mr. Vreeland said his measure met the approval of both Mr. Roosevelt and Secretary Cortelyou, and that it would be submitted to the caucus of House of Representatives next week. Mr. Vreeland feels confident that the bill will receive a sanction, which would insure its passage by the House.

A new man, defeating him for fifth place by four votes.

Richardson, Don Leavy, Davis and Unkufar were re-elected in the order named. The fight on Mr. Miner was due, it is claimed, to his opposition to the establishment of a municipal lighting plant.

In Madison, Councilman Julius A. Hobson led the ticket, the others electing being E. R. Fuller (new), Pollock, Barker and J. B. Burke (new). Captain W. L. White was defeated for re-election.

Two new members go in from Monroe. Dr. F. M. Reade and J. Randolph Becker, Lilley, Spence and Green were re-elected. Dr. H. Williams and John P. Lea not standing for re-election.

In Madison, Councilman Julius A. Hobson led the ticket, the others electing being E. R. Fuller (new), Pollock, Barker and J. B. Burke (new). Captain W. L. White was defeated for re-election.

A Richmond citizen tells his experience in the following statement. No better evidence than this can be had. The truthful reports of friends and neighbors is the best proof in the world. Read and be convinced:

C. Graffam, 507 Beverly Street, Richmond, Va., says: "I gave a statement recommending Doan's Kidney Pills on January 6, 1903, and I am glad at this time, July 24, to state that I have not suffered from a backache for over four years. Prior to that time I had been annoyed for a long while with a soreness and lameness across the small of my back, so acute that it would hardly rise from a chair. Whenever I made a sudden movement sharp twinges would catch me, and cause the most intense suffering. My kidneys were too frequent in action, often causing me to rise from four to five times during the night. They were dark in color, and contained a heavy sediment. I used a number of remedies, but failed. I had read of Doan's Kidney Pills, and I procured a box at Owens & Minor Drug Co. They acted exactly as represented. I continued their use and was cured. My back has not been of the best for some time past. I have never since had any trouble. I think when a person finds such a reliable remedy as Doan's Kidney Pills it is his duty to keep the fact known to others."

LAKE DECLARES OFFER WAS MADE

Says Electric Company Tried to Purchase His Company.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—Simon Lake, president of the Lake Torpedo Boat Company, denied to-day before the special House committee investigating charges made by Representative Lilley against the Electric Boat Company, that the Lake Company made overtures to the Electric Boat Company to sell its interests in this company, as testified to by President Rice, of the Electric Company. On the contrary, he said, overtures were made to him by parties representing themselves as speaking for the Electric Company to buy the Lake Company.

Former United States Senator John M. Thurston, of Nebraska, counsel for the Lake Company, was the only other witness of the day. He stated that the Lake Company was in no way responsible for the investigation; if he had known in advance of Mr. Lilley's intention to introduce his resolution, he would have discouraged it, as it might endanger the appropriation by Congress for submarines.

ADMIRAL DEWEY FOR SUBIG BAY

Telegraphs Hobson That He Is for That Position "Now and Forever."

SHERLEY CRITICIZES DEWEY

Hobson Defends the Navy, Saying That Ships Are Better Than Foreigners.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—When the naval appropriation bill was taken up by the House, there still was pending an amendment by Mr. Jones, Virginia, for developing the naval station at Subig Bay, Philippine Islands.

The controversy between the army and the navy as to which is the most desirable place, Cavite or Subig Bay, for fortification and protection, was condemned by Mr. Crumpacker, Indiana, who said that the administration should not ask Congress for money for both places until the question was settled one way or the other.

Admiral Dewey, opposed any appropriation whatever at this time. Mr. Foss declared that Admiral Dewey and other naval authorities were all agreed that Subig Bay, on account of its depth of water, was the proper place for the permanent station.

"In the final analysis," said Mr. Foss, "it will be the navy that will defend the army; it will be the navy that will keep our flag aloft in the sky over the Philippine archipelago."

If, he said, the United States continued to state, in invading army ever would come into the Philippines.

Mr. Sherley, of Kentucky, persisted that Admiral Dewey and the joint board of which he is president, had recommended Cavite, but Mr. Foss asserted that recommendation never had been approved, and that for years the joint board had declared in favor of Subig Bay.

Dewey for Subig Bay.

Mr. Hobson, of Alabama, detailed the situation at Subig Bay from a military standpoint and reiterated his views in favor of that location as a naval base as against Cavite.

Mr. Hobson said he had telephoned Admiral Dewey to-day, and that Admiral Dewey had replied "It is Subig Bay now and forever if we are to have a naval base."

Mr. Sherley asserted that it would have been more valuable to Congress if Admiral Dewey had made his dissent to the findings of the board instead of declaring the time is not ripe and making his dissent by telephone.

Mr. Hobson hotly retorted that if Admiral Dewey and the general board had told the Naval Committee and the whole Congress that this whole question was to provide against the sudden attack of 150,000 men that could land at League Island, Mr. Sherley would "criticize the admiral and the board and the President and the Navy Department, and every other man who studied the question for bringing up a war scare."

Mr. Hobson asserted that in order for the United States to control the Pacific it would be necessary to have a first-class naval base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, a second-class station at Subig Bay, and a third-class station at Cavite.

Hobson Defends Navy.

Following the withdrawal by Mr. Jones of his amendment, a prolonged debate was precipitated over a point of order made by Mr. Tawney against the provision in the bill granting to the Secretary of the Navy authority to make expenditures for repairs and changes on vessels in excess of the limit now fixed. The chair sustained the point, and the words went on to the bill. The efficiency of the personnel of the American navy was vigorously defended by Mr. Hobson.

He gave an historical review of the part played by Americans in naval battles, and declared that "that record of unparalleled efficiency is still maintained."

The American ships, the product of that personnel, he added, were not only as good, but from 25 to 25 per cent, better than ships of equal tonnage of the same date abroad. He warned the House that future naval battles would be fought with the great guns of long range, and said that the six-inch and eight-inch guns would not be as effective as heretofore.

The reading of the bill proceeded rapidly until the provision for naval increase was reached.

Anticipating a lengthy debate on the battleship proposition the bill was laid aside for the day.

DURING ALL-DAY STORM LIGHTNING SETS ON FIRE

BEAUMONT, TEX., April 14.—Six inches of rain fell here to-day, accompanied by a terrific thunder and lightning-storm that lasted all day. All streets in the city were under water for several hours and street car service almost entirely stopped.

Lightning set fire to an oil tank at the plant of the Security Oil Refinery, containing 45,000 barrels of oil, causing a loss of $125,000.

BIG SEA OF FACES GREET THE FLEET

Local committees also went to the Connecticut to tell Admiral Thomas and, through him, all the men of the fleet, how glad the people of California were to see such a splendid representation of the American Navy as the "battle-ship fleet" constitutes.

Ten-thousand Admirals Thomas, Sperry and Emory, and the command and officers, and members of the various staffs were entertained at an elaborate but informal dinner at the Hotel del Coronado.

Beautiful Night Spectacle.

The beauty of the day's spectacle when the ships were brought to anchor in the lazy rolling Pacific waters, was rivaled to-night, when for three hours every vessel was outlined in fire.

The fleet let go its anchors at 12:47 P. M. For two hours the ships had been in sight and their coming had been watched with wonder by the waiting throngs. So engrossed were they with the beauty of the scene that they forgot to cheer. Never before have armories of the Connecticut type, discharging more than 16,000 tons, been seen along the Pacific coast.

Rear Admiral Charles M. Thomas, commanding, was on the bridge of the Connecticut as the fleet steamed to its anchorage. The absence of Rear Admiral Evans, who is ill at Paso Robles, is deeply regretted on all sides. Admiral Thomas at the dinner referred to the matter with much feeling.

To the left of the Connecticut steamed the Georgia, flagship of Rear-Admiral Emory, commanding the second division, whose crew were from Rhode Island, Virginia and New Jersey. The third line from the shore was headed by the Alabama, flagship of Rear-Admiral Sperry, who is now in command of the second squadron, and third division, but soon is to be the senior officer of the entire fleet. With the Alabama were the Illinois, Kearsarge and Kentucky. The fourth and outward column was headed by the Maine, with Captain Giles B. Harber in command of the division which included the Missouri, Ohio and Minnesota.

Governor Pays Call.

As soon as the Connecticut left go her anchor, the Colonel Thomas Wilhelm, U. S. A., retired, on the staff of Gov. Gillett as assistant inspector-general, put out from the shore and was received on board the flagship. He presented the compliments of the Governor to Admiral Thomas and said that the executive of California wished to call and pay his respects and formally extend a welcome to California waters. Admiral Thomas replied that he would be glad to receive Governor Gillett and his staff at 2:30 P. M.

At that hour the Governor, accompanied by the uniformed members of his staff, boarded the flagship.

As the party went on board from the starboard gangway, the ships were manned, and all the officers of the ship were drawn up at attention on the forward deck. Governor Gillett, with the Governor's staff, stepped forward to the ship's side, and the Admiral himself leading.

As the Governor was piped over the side of the Connecticut, a salute of seventeen guns was fired in his honor.

Mayor John F. Forward, of the city of San Diego, William Clayton, director general of the fleet celebration committee, and U. S. Grant, chairman of the reception committee, also went aboard the Connecticut during the afternoon and received a cordial reception.

Attended by members of his personal staff, Admiral Thomas returned Governor Gillett's visit at the Hotel del Coronado to-night. The dinner to the flag and commanding officers to-night was purely a social subscription affair, and the addresses were informal. Governor Gillett was among the guests.
